

How to find E-Books and E-Journals in TRiCAT

Last update: 09.2022

Table of contents

1. Search for and access e-books in the catalog
2. Access to journals \(print and electronic\) via TRiCAT

1. e-book search in the catalogue

By searching in the TRiCAT you can find printed books as well as e-books, which you can also access from home.

External access (VPN) set up and activated?
Help is available at: <https://www.uni-trier.de/index.php?id=62624>

First go to the online catalogue TRiCAT and enter a search term or book title:
Go to the homepage of the university (www.uni-trier.de), click on the book symbol,
then follow the link to TRiCAT.

The screenshot shows the homepage of the University of Trier. The top navigation bar includes the university logo (highlighted with a red box), a home icon, and links for 'ÜBER UNS', 'A - Z', 'SUCHEN & FINDEN', 'ARBEITEN & LERNEN', and 'FORSCHEN & PUBLIZIEREN'. A search icon is also present. Below the navigation bar is a large banner image of a library interior. Underneath the banner is a green breadcrumb trail: 'Willkommen > Universität > Wichtige Anlaufstellen > Bibliothek > Suchen & Finden > Bibliothek entdecken'. A horizontal row of icons represents various university services: PORTA, Stud.IP, E-Mail, Bibliothek (highlighted with a red box), IT-Services, Fächer, News, Kalender, Mensa, Sport, and Sicherheit. Below this row is the section 'BIBLIOTHEK ENTDECKEN' with a descriptive paragraph. To the right of this section is a 'TOP-LINKS' box (highlighted with a red box) containing three links: 'TRiCAT (Bibliothekskatalog)', 'Datenbanken (DBIS)', and 'Elektronische Zeitschriften'.

On campus: Simply go to online access and start reading!

From home: Activate VPN full client and access title in TRiCAT

In case of problems please consult our checklist:

Bibliothek > A - Z > C > Checkliste für den Zugriff auf elektronische Medien

Access from home is also possible via DBIS:

Go to the library's homepage, then to → Datenbanken (DBIS) → Sammlungen → Portale → here: De Gruyter (publisher) (with information on that publisher's access conditions). Open the De Gruyter homepage as seen below and enter your ZIMK data to get access to e-books from home.

The screenshot shows the 'Datenbank-Infosystem (DBIS)' interface of the 'Universitätsbibliothek Trier'. The top navigation bar includes links for 'Home', 'Katalog', 'UB Trier: A bis Z', 'EZB (Campus / VPN Full-Tunnel)', and 'EZB (VPN Split-Tunnel)'. On the left, a sidebar lists search options like 'Suche nach Datenbanken', 'Schnelle Suche', and 'Erweiterte Suche', along with a list of collections and services. The main content area, titled 'Detailansicht', displays 'De Gruyter Online / eBooks'. It lists various titles and provides a 'Recherche starten' link to 'https://www.degruyter.com/'. A red box highlights the 'Weitere lizenzierte Zugänge' section, which includes a 'Shibboleth' logo and instructions for access from outside the university via Shibboleth, including a login link and the 'EINLOGGEN' button. Another red box highlights the 'Zugang von außerhalb via VPN' section, which also provides instructions for access. The bottom of the page mentions that the service is available in the university's network and that many individual titles are licensed from the UB Trier.

2. Access to journals (printed and electronic) via TRiCAT

- From home: Connect to the university network! Best via VPN full tunnel. Access via VPN is only possible for university members.
- For installation please follow the instructions of the ZIMK: <https://www.uni-trier.de/index.php?id=62624>
- Access TRiCAT via the homepage of the university library first. In the "Catalog" you can only search for the journal title – you can't search for the contents of the journal and individual articles!

First go to the online catalogue TRiCAT and search for the journal title:

Go to the homepage of the university (www.uni-trier.de) click on the book symbol then follow the link to the TRiCAT link.

The screenshot shows the homepage of the University of Trier. The top navigation bar includes the university logo (highlighted with a red box), a home icon, and links for 'ÜBER UNS', 'A - Z', 'SUCHEN & FINDEN', 'ARBEITEN & LERNEN', and 'FORSCHEN & PUBLIZIEREN'. A 'Bibliothek' link with a magnifying glass icon is also present. Below the navigation bar is a large banner image of a library interior. Underneath the banner is a green breadcrumb trail: 'Willkommen > Universität > Wichtige Anlaufstellen > Bibliothek > Suchen & Finden > Bibliothek entdecken'. A horizontal row of icons follows, with the 'Bibliothek' icon (a book) highlighted by a red box. Below this row is a section titled 'BIBLIOTHEK ENTDECKEN' with a paragraph of text. To the right of this section is a 'TOP-LINKS' box (highlighted with a red box) containing three links: 'TRiCAT (Bibliothekskatalog)', 'Datenbanken (DBIS)', and 'Elektronische Zeitschriften'.

FLORENCE HAEGEL

Political Socialisation: Out of Purgatory?

Abstract

This paper aims to put contemporary political socialisation research in perspective. It offers a rapid overview of the crisis of the subfield after the 1970s and then shifts attention to post-crisis studies. Beginning with child political socialisation, it raises four issues: the use of theoretical frameworks derived from child psychology; the need to reconnect political socialisation to the sociology of family; the benefits of renewing methods for understanding the world of child politics; and a new account of social inequality in the process of political socialisation. It then explores lifelong political socialisation and how it has developed around four research dynamics: the study of civic and political socialisation of school-age adolescents and young adults; the generational renewal; the socialising effects of political mobilisation; and the processes and agents of the secondary political socialisation of adults. The final section raises the major question of what is political in political socialisation.

Keywords: Political socialisation; Family; Generation; Child and lifelong political socialisation.

FOR THOSE INTERESTED in the history of social science, political socialisation as a research field is a particularly compelling case. It flourished in the 1960s but rapidly collapsed, struck down by major critiques that precipitated its long purgatory. There are signs now that it may emerge from this, although one should not overestimate recovery, as a genuine subfield has not yet been clearly reconstituted.

The difficulty of assessing the state of the art is compounded by the fact that political socialisation used to be "a sub-field of American politics" [Sapiro 2004: 5]. Although the ethnocentrism of political socialisation research was criticised from the very beginning on the grounds that the topic was too limited to American society and that most of its conclusions were not generalisable, ethnocentrism remains a specific feature of political socialisation 60 years later, and few studies
