

TAP Team Assistants

Felix Brender 王哲謙 (PhD, LSE) (left) works on Chinese security approaches, mediation and post-conflict reconciliation, and transitional justice. In addition to his academic work, he has worked as a conference interpreter for diplomatic and corporate actors in Europe, the Americas, East Asia, and the Gulf.

Julia Zachulski (right) worked with TAP since September 2023. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Sinology and Korean Studies and is currently pursuing a Master's degree in East Asian Studies at the Ruhr University Bochum. Her research interests include the role of women in ancient China and the history of Taiwan, particularly during and after Japanese rule.

Angel Hristoz was a research assistant to Dr Keyser-Verreault on the TAP project since April 2023. He holds a BA in IR and Economics and is pursuing an MA in Politics and Society of East Asia, with a focus on Greater China, at Tübingen. His research interests include Chinese political theory & cross-Strait relations.

Aman Tanwar (left) is a TAP research assistant and pursuing a Master's in Natural Language Processing at the University of Trier.

Sophie has been a research assistant on the project since October 2022. She earned a BA in Modern Chinese Studies and Classical Archaeology from Trier and is interested in Taiwanese politics in its wider regional context. Julian studies Political Science and Modern China Studies in Trier and at National Chengchi University, with interests in cross-Strait relations, digital democracy, and media reporting.

Former assistants include Alena Imgrund, Franziska Martini, Damir Padieu & Charlotte Stolz at Trier, Tamina Renner at Bochum, Adrian Bail & Alexander Alban Reik at Tübingen.
