

International conference on

Deprovincializing German Racism

*Exploring and Teaching Latin American &
Global Entanglements, 1500-Present*

25. - 27. February 2026

ORGANIZED BY:
PROJEKT GLOVIB
UNIVERSITÄT TRIER

With funding from the:

Federal Ministry of Research, Technology and Space

PARTNER INSTITUTIONS:

IBERO-AMERIKANISCHES INSTITUT

STIFTUNG PREUSSISCHER KULTURBESITZ

Ibero-Amerikanisches
Institut
Preußischer Kulturbesitz

LATEINAMERIKA-INSTITUT
DER FREIEN UNIVERSITÄT BERLIN

Lateinamerika - Institut
Freie Universität Berlin

IBERO-AMERIKANISCHES INSTITUT
POTSDAMER STR. 37, BERLIN

GLOVIB@UNI-TRIER.DE

© USF Digital Commons, Rázza Collection

Organized by Project GloVib:
Global Entanglements of Racial Categorizations: The Iberian Roots of German Racial Thought [16th to 20th centuries], Trier University

February 25-27, 2026
Hosted by the Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut,
Potsdamer Str. 37 10785 (Berlin Tiergarten)

The global turn has been challenging conventional nation-bound histories for several decades. Many older accounts traced the histories of specific national attitudes towards other human beings, often in the form of 'race thinking.' Now, just as global approaches are helping us rethink the nation as a historical construct, scholars are rethinking these national narratives as constructs in their own right, and uncovering how ideas of race and difference have actually emerged across borders.

Little research exists on the circulation of racialized ideas between Germany and Latin America. Indeed, Latin America often appears in national stories on one extreme - as a melting pot - with Germany on the other, a nation defined by concerns of purity. Scholars and activists have heavily questioned the ideology of Latin American 'mixing' (mestizaje) as exclusionary and misleading, just as new global perspectives call into question the region's unique claims to mestizo identity. European nations' engagements with colonial projects and immigration patterns have also revealed considerable cultural, intellectual, and demographic exchange with the wider world.

Germany's history has been no exception, as scholars identify Indigenous, Asian, and Black German pasts, among others, along with a long history of colonial engagements. This conference thus brings together scholars from around the world who are exploring the consequences of shared and co-created ideas of 'race' and human difference between two regions often studied in isolation.

The goals of this conference are both to share new research on these topics and to discuss how to best communicate these findings with the wider public and within the German educational system. Its focus will thus be divided between research and pedagogical questions.

Wednesday, 25.02.2026

10:00-10:05

Introduction by Dr. Peter Birle (Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut, DE)

10:05-10:15

Introduction by Project GloVib (Trier University, DE)

10:15-11:10

Invited Speaker: Prof. Dr. Stefan Rinke (Freie Universität Berlin, DE)

"Colonial Shadows: The Making and Remaking of Race between Germany and Latin America"

11:10-11:20: Discussion

11:20-11:40: Coffee Break

11:40-12:30

Panel 1: German Racial Thinking in Global & Historical Perspectives

Presentation 1.1: Prof. Dr. Giovanna Montenegro (Binghamton University, US)

"From the Welsers to the Moravians: Racialized Capitalism and Spirituality in Latin America and the Caribbean"

Presentation 1.2: Harshada Anand Kavade, M.A. (Jawaharlal Nehru University, IN)

"From Humboldt to Haeckel: German Scientific Racism & Its Latin American Reverberations"

12:30-14:10: Lunch Break

14:10-15:20

Panel 2: Race and Beauty from the 1500s to the 1800s

Presentation 2.1: Dr. Adrian Masters (Trier University, DE)

"Beauty & Human Difference in the Scholastic and Enlightenment Traditions"

Presentation 2.2: Josefa Cassimo, M.A. (Leiden University, NL)

"Racial Language and Black Identity in Early Modern Germany"

Presentation 2.3: Prof. Dr. Carlos Abreu Mendoza (Texas State University, US)

"German Aesthetics, Latin American Nation-Building, & the Global Entanglements of Racial Thought"

15:20-15:35: Coffee Break

15:35-16:25

Invited Speaker: Prof. Dr. Silke Hensel (Universität zu Köln, DE)

"Coping with Practices of Racialization in Latin America, 18th-19th Centuries"

16:25-16:30

Closing Remarks

Thursday, 26.02.2026

10:00-10:55

Invited Speaker: Prof. Dr. Robert Bernasconi (Penn State University, US)

"Herder's and Hegel's Americans"

10:55-11:10: Coffee Break

11:10-12:20

Panel 3: Empires Overlaid: German & Latin American Entanglements in the 1800s

Presentation 3.1: Lars Grimm, M.A. (Trier University, DE)

"'Ethnic Anarchy' or 'Final Link in the Development of Humanity'? Mexico in 19th-Century German Discourse on 'Menschenrassen,' Nation Building, and Civilization"

Presentation 3.2: Andreas Markus Schurr, M.A. (European University Institute, IT)

"Towards a Transatlantic Understanding of 19th-Century Racial Thought: Immigration Efforts, Public Debate, & Racialized Visions of Mexican Nation-Building after 1848"

Presentation 3.3: Christian Lemuel Magaling, M.A. (University of Bonn, DE)

"From Reducción to Redención: Geo-ideologies of land alienation and racial politics"

12:20-13:40: Lunch Break

13:40-14:50

Panel 4: Germany and the Iberian World in the Era of Scientific Racism

Presentation 4.1: Dr. Isabelle Rispler (Université Paris Cité, FR)

"'The German Element': Race and Racialization in the German-speaking South Atlantic after 1820"

Presentation 4.2: David Labastida, M.A. (University of Toronto, CA)

"Plasmoquine, German Pharmacology, and the Transnational Racialization of Anti-Malarial Therapies in the Interwar Period"

Presentation 4.3: Dr. Moritz Herrmann (Trier University, DE)

"Of Bastards and Bastard Nations: The Global Entanglements of the Discourses on Human Hybridity, Nationalism and Empire (ca. 1850-1950)"

14:50-15:00: Closing Remarks

~16:30-17:15

Tour (optional but recommended)

Erinnerungsort Ihnenstraße (KWI-A)

with Dr. Manuela Bauche (Freie Universität Berlin, DE)

(see back for arrival instructions)

Friday, 27.02.2026

10:00-10:55

Invited Speaker: Prof. Dr. Max-Sebastián Hering Torres
(Universidad Nacional de Colombia, CO)

"Race in connection:
A methodological reflection for the long term"

10:55-11:10: Coffee Break

Panel 5: Teaching Global Histories of Race in Contemporary Germany and Beyond

Presentation 5.1: Stephanie Wegener (Trier University, DE)

"Ongoing Racism in German History Textbooks: Representations of New World Indigenous People from 1970 to the Present"

Presentation 5.2: Prof. Dr. Amilcar Araujo Pereira (Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, BR)

"Unified Black Movement: A History of Transnational Anti-Racism in Brazil, with the Support of the Brazil-Germany Cultural Institute"

Presentation 5.3: Dr. Adolfo Polo y La Borda (University of Nottingham, UK)

"Who is a global citizen? The teaching of the history of cosmopolitanism in Germany, Colombia, and the United Kingdom"

Presentation 5.4: Judit Ramb, M.Ed. (University of Bielefeld, DE)

"Racism and the Critique of Racism for German historical thinking"

12:45-14:00: Lunch Break

14:00-14:55

Invited Speaker: Prof. Dr. Felix Hinz (Pädagogische Hochschule Freiburg, DE)

"Anti-racist history teaching in Germany:
Current developments and perspectives"

14:55-15:10: Coffee Break

15:10-16:10

Round Table Discussion

Reflections on the Future of Anti-Racist Education in Germany and Beyond

16:10-16:20: Closing Remarks

Projekt GloVib:
Dr. Adrian Masters, Dr. Moritz Hermann, Lars Grimm, M.A.,
Stephanie Wegener, Astrid Theerens, M.A.

Directions: Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut

Ibero-Amerikanisches Institut
Stiftung Preußischer Kulturbesitz
Potsdamer Straße 37,
10785 Berlin (Tiergarten)

Trams & trains: "Potsdamer Platz"
Metro "Mendelssohn-Bartholdy-Park"
Bus M48/M85, stop: "Kulturforum"
Bus M29, stop: "Potsdamer Brücke"

Directions: Erinnerungsort IhnesträÙe

IhnesträÙe 22
14195 Berlin
Institut für Politik-Wissenschaft

U-Bahn: Station Freie Univ. (Thielplatz)
Busses, stop: Freie Univ. (Thielplatz)