Trust in Times of (In-)Security

On the Relationship between the Phenomena of Security and Trust

International Conference

Research Group Interdisciplinary Analysis of Trust, Crises and Fear of the Future (ZIVA)

Section "Political Sociology" of the German Sociological Association (GSA/DGS)

5./6. June 2014

Prof. Dr. Martin Endreß

Dr. Benjamin Rampp

The relationship between the phenomena of security (especially if understood in a broader sense) and trust is complex: both topics merge and influence one another on a personal as well as on a social level. Security practices aim at both the creation of trust as well as its maintenance. At the same time they are based upon techniques of distrust and are able to structurally question trust – in the sense of paradoxical unanticipated consequences. The international conference “Trust in Times of (In-) Security” will focus on this multifaceted relationship.
