City of Trier

With about 110.000 inhabitants, Trier is one of the bigger cities in Rhineland-Palatinate. More than 2000 years old, it is Germany's oldest city and site of several UNESCO World Heritage sights like the famous Porta Nigra. Its historic old town centre is just another reason why Trier is a popular destination for tourists from all over the world.

Exhibitions, public readings, (open air) concerts, wine festivals as well as the annual old town festival and the popular christmas market make up Trier's cultural offer.

Luxembourg, Belgium and France are just a stone's throw away and the picturesque Moselle valley or various close-by premium hiking trails in Trier region can shape a truly varied experience including great outdoors as well as more metropolitan impressions.

Highlights

The International Office at Trier University offers a three-and-a-half-week orientation program before the start of each semester. The aim of the program is to prepare international students for studying at the university and to help them to settle into living in Trier. The orientation program has four key components: German lessons, the completion of important administrative formalities, various information sessions as well as social and cultural activities.

International Education

The Language Center offers more than 20 free German as a Foreign Language courses every semester. These courses are designed for different language levels and cover a variety of subject areas. They range from intensive courses for students with little knowledge of German (beginner level) to intermediate courses (B1, B2) and there are also specialized courses for students with advanced knowledge of German (C1, C2).

The student initiative "Internationales Zentrum" (IZ) offers international students an intercultural mentoring program as well as advice and guidance every semester. The IZ is not only there to help with all aspects of studies, but also organizes a varied program of social and cultural activities, such as a buddy program, language tandems, encounters with Trier locals or excursions.
