As a young campus university, the University of Trier is especially characterized by its extensive international network. With currently around 11,000 students and 2,000 employees, it is one of the main employers in the region. With its 13 departments, the institute of psychology is one of the largest psychology institutes in Germany.

The position of a

W 3-professorship for child and adolescent clinical psychology and psychotherapy (m/w/d)

Faculty I, University of Trier is to be filled as soon as possible.

The successful candidate will represent the field of child and adolescent clinical psychology and psychotherapy in all study programmes in the area of psychology. Together with the other clinical-psychological departments, the professorship is responsible for teaching in the clinical-psychological field in the bachelor’s programme, in the upcoming master’s programme, as well as in current and future advanced training courses. Together with the other psychological departments, the professorship offers seminars on methodology in the above-mentioned programmes. The professorship will be responsible for the conception and implementation of the courses related to child and adolescent clinical psychology and in particular patient-oriented teaching.

The successful candidate will head the outpatient clinic for children and adolescents, the advanced training courses in child and adolescent psychotherapy, as well as the training outpatient clinic for children and adolescents at the University of Trier. Therefore, a license to practice child and adolescent psychotherapy or a license to practice psychological psychotherapy with an additional qualification in the field of psychotherapy for children and adolescents is required (or a corresponding advanced postgraduate education or training, which must be available before the nomination). The license for supervision should be available by winter term 2024/25 or acquired as soon as possible. The successful candidate will be expected to main and expand existing cooperation with educational institutions and healthcare facilities, to demonstrate outstanding scientific achievements, in particular, an internationally visible research program and successful acquisition of third-party funding, to demonstrate collaborations with other research areas in the psychological institute, and proven pedagogical suitability are also expected.

The successful candidate will be expected to carry out official responsibilities and duties as per § 48 HochSchG. The preconditions for employment are described in § 49 HochSchG. The ability to offer courses in German is expected. Please note § 50, section 5, sentences 5 and 6 HochSchG. The state of Rhineland-Palatinate and the University of Trier represent a concept with a high presence of the teaching staff on-site at the university. Preference will be given to severely disabled persons with equivalent qualifications. Severely disabled persons and those who are treated the same according to § 2 section 3 SGB IX will be given preference if corresponding suitable (please attach proof). The University of Trier strives to increase the number of its female employees and strongly encourages woman to apply.
Applications including the usual documents (curriculum vitae, copies of certificates, list of publications, list of courses, teaching evaluations) and a concept for the patient-oriented teaching programmes should be sent as a single PDF file by December 15, 2022, via mail to the Dean of Faculty I at the University of Trier, Mail: dekanfb1@uni-trier.de. We request applicants not to submit any application documents via post, or to submit the originals, as the documents will not be returned, but will be shredded in line with the data protection directive. For more information on the processing of your personal data, please refer to the data protection information for application procedures in accordance with Article 13 DSGVO on our homepage.