

TRIER UNIVERSITY

In Faculty II: Languages, Literatures and Media Studies at Trier University (Germany), the Department of English Studies is looking to fill the following permanent position in the Language Teaching section of the department:

Part-time (50%) EAP / English Language Instructor (American English) (m/f/d)

Start date: 1st April 2020

Salary: in accordance with TV-L E13.

The tasks of this role include independently conducting practical language classes for a total of eight hours per week and managing the organizational tasks associated with those classes.

Employment in this position requires native-like competence in American English, several years of experience studying or working in North America, and a good command of German. Further requirements are explained in paragraphs §58 and §56 of the Higher Education Act of Rhineland-Palatinate. These include a Master's degree or equivalent post-graduate university qualification in a subject relevant to the position (e.g. English or American Studies, TESOL, Applied Linguistics, German Studies), graded with an above average classification; a recognized language teaching qualification (e.g. in TESOL or TEFL); at least 2½ years' experience teaching English in Higher Education, and at least 2.5 years of employment/work experience since graduation. Willingness and ability to collaborate in a team of language instructors is expected.

Teaching responsibilities: Classes will include grammar, phonetics of North American English, North American culture studies, translation from German into English, and other practical language classes focused on developing students' oral and written competence in academic English, as well as the preparation and assessment of work in these classes and the associated module exams.

Trier University is committed to increasing the number of female academic staff members and particularly welcomes applications from female candidates. People with disabilities may be given preferential treatment in the selection process.

Please send your application documents (esp. CV/resumé, covering letter, list of previously taught courses, copies of qualification certificates, publications where applicable) as one pdf document attached to an email to the Head of the Department of English Studies, Prof. Sabine Arndt-Lappe, gfangl@uni-trier.de. The application deadline is 30.09.2019. Applications will be accepted in English or in German.
